The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kalt.

Kalt in FIG. 1 shows an electrostatic device as claimed and at col. 4 lines 15-19 states there would be a plurality of these devices which would be individually actuated and at col. 5 state that they could be used in an office building as venetian blinds.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kalt in view of Official Notice.

Official Notice is taken that most office buildings have sides which are subject to widely varying amounts of sunshine thereby causing different room temperatures dependent upon the amount of sunshine. Since Kalt in, col. 5, talks about temperature control, it would have been obvious to vary the amount of sunshine and therefore the amount of heating getting through on different side depending upon room temperature.

Claim 7 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
